

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of the dangers of letting media own many radio/tv stations to effect an monopoly.

Sinclair uses our public airwaves free of charge, and should serve the public interest. But when large companies control the airwaves, we get biased and self-serving programming that is very undemocratic.

Sinclair's actions show why we need to strengthen media ownership rules, not weaken them. They show why the license renewal process needs to involve more than a returned postcard. Thank you.
